Impact of COVID-19

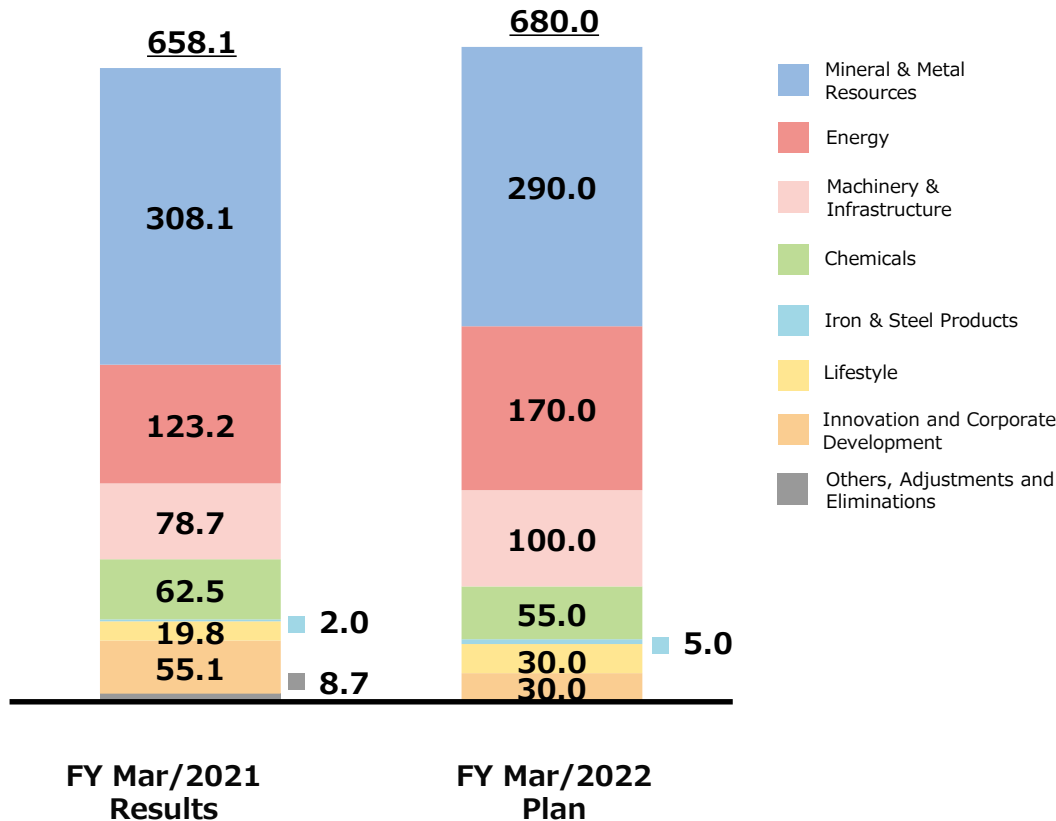

- The pandemic created downward pressure at the beginning of the fiscal year, but recovery was better than expected in the second half. Amid a changing business environment, trading, resources and power supply, and hospital business made qualitative and quantitative contributions as essential businesses

	Mar/2021 full-year impact and future outlook
Mineral & Metal Resources	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Strong Iron ore and copper prices due to Chinese demand and economic recovery. However, coal prices were sluggish ■ Mining operations largely operating as normal
Energy	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Oil demand is recovering due to the spread of vaccines and economic stimulus measures in certain countries, but there are concerns about slowdown due to a resurgence of infections ■ Closely monitor prolonged spread of infections, behavioral changes, and impact of demand trends on real economy
Machinery & Infrastructure	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Production and sales significantly affected in the first half of the fiscal year, but market recovered in second half centered on automotive and construction & industrial machinery ■ Footfall has not recovered and some businesses, such as passenger transport, remain sluggish
Chemicals	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ While demand and market declined in the first half of the fiscal year, demand recovered in the second half, mainly in China and North America ■ When the market changes, Mitsui demonstrated its capabilities in logistics and other areas, and contributed toward stable supply ■ Demand for agriculture and food-related products remained firm
Iron & Steel Products	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Although the first half of the year was affected by decline in demand for steel and a decline in operation rate at factories, market recovered with the recovery in the economy and steel demand ■ Uncertainty remains in some businesses and regions, but performance is expected to recover due to recovery in demand and strengthening of resistance to downturns
Lifestyle	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Although affected by decline in operation rates at hospital and food service businesses etc., it recovered through implementation of various measures. Expect further recovery by continuing to strengthen management of existing businesses and creating new businesses with an eye to the "new normal" ■ Logistics profit on grains and other commodities improved and we secured "stay at home" demand. Demand in fashion-related and dining out industries will pick up to a certain extent, but we will closely monitor the impact of concern about re-spread in infections on decline in demand
Innovation & Corporate Development	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Steady capture of digital security and "stay at home" demand ■ Steady growth in commodities trading and logistics business ■ Early recovery of stock market, active IPO market
General	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Delays in asset recycling. Drive market research and improve project/deal quality for normalization ■ Reduced expenses such as for travel and project/deal formulation costs

(*1) As the crude oil price affects our consolidated results with a 0-6 month time lag, the effect of crude oil prices on consolidated results is estimated as the Consolidated oil price, which reflects this lag. For the year ending March 2022, we have assumed that there is a 4-6 month lag for approx. 35%, a 1-3 month lag for approx. 60%, and no lag for approx. 5%. The above sensitivities show annual impact of changes in consolidated oil price.

(*2) As Mitsui has very limited exposure to U.S. natural gas sold at Henry Hub (HH), the above sensitivities show annual impact of changes in the weighted average sale price.

(*4) The effect of dividend income from Vale has not been included.

(*5) Iron ore and coal price assumptions are not disclosed.

(*6) Iron ore results figures for the year ended March 2021 are the daily average (reference price) spot indicated price (Fe 62% CFR North China) recorded in several industry trade magazines from April 2020 to March 2021.

(*7) Coal results figures for the year ended March 2021 are the quarterly average prices of representative coal brands in Japan (US$/MT).

(*8) As the copper price affects our consolidated results with a 3-month time lag, the above sensitivities show the annual impact of US$100/ton change in averages of the LME monthly average cash settlement prices for the period March to December 2021.

(*9) Copper results figures for the year ended March 2021 are the averages of the LME monthly average cash settlement prices for the period January to December 2020.

(*10) Impact of currency fluctuations on reported profit for the year of overseas subsidiaries and equity accounted investees denominated in their respective functional currencies and the impact of dividend received from major foreign investees. Depreciation of the yen has the effect of increasing profit for the year through the conversion of profit (denominated in functional currencies) into yen. In the overseas subsidiaries and equity accounted investees where the sales contract is in USD, the impact of currency fluctuations between the USD and the functional currencies (AUD and BRL) and the impact of currency hedging are not included.
